

TO-DAY CRANKS MAKE HOLIDAY.

Thousands Will Greet the Shattered Giants on the Polo Grounds.

Hard-Hitting Philadelphians the Home Team's Foes on the Diamond.

Bunting, Music, Parade and General Newness, the Usual Features, All Ready.

AND THERE IS A MASCOT, TOO.

No Human Fetish Will Grace the Bench This Year, the Florida Dog Cracker Replacing That Useful Auxiliary.

This is the day the somewhat shattered Giants perform for the benefit of the local enthusiasts. May a mercurial, kind and indulgent Providence watch over them—the Giants.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the locals and the hard-hitting Philadelphians met on the Polo Grounds, and may the best team win. Should the weather prove favorable, there is every prospect of an immense outpouring of the baseball population. The cranks are burning up with curiosity to see for themselves just what New York has drawn in the way of a team. Thousands of invitation tickets have been issued and distributed judiciously, and the indications are that the gathering will equal those of other years.

The usual preparation have been made for the momentous event—a band of music, muskets, special policemen and all the other needful accessories. Yesterday the ground keeper and his assistants were busy nailing festoons of bunting along the balcony fronts. They always do that. No baseball opening is complete without the pouring of July effect imparted by bunting in patriotic colors. It is a tribute to the national pastime.

It is possible, too, that the mascot in all his pleasing variety will be there. Many offer themselves on opening day, but only a few are chosen. Small black boys who carry whisks brooms in case their services are not needed on the field, are chosen to pilot the team to certain victory.

A BRAND-NEW MASCOT. His white brother, in home made uniform, and boasting of a vacant lot record of twelve games out of thirteen, will also beg for the honor of being the mascot. But all these applicants will be refused this year. The team has a mascot, though little or nothing has been said about him. He is Cracker, the small black dog that made the trip home from Florida with the Giants. There are rumors that Cracker was ruthlessly kidnapped by some party from his Southern, sunny home by force, and much against his will. The beast belongs to Gleason; that is, the kid claims him.

According to the programme the contending teams will line up in two platoons at the clubhouse and do the American march across the field to the music of a band. Rogers' Seventh Regiment Band has been engaged for this number. After the march has been made, the band will retire to the arena, where the players will soon knock the name off. His Excellency will occupy a box with the city officials and other dignitaries, as heretofore. If Umpire Tim Lincecum fails to catch the ball thrown by an error, these cranks will be on hand, sure.

FAITHFUL CRANKS THESE.

Dad Clarke will have a chance to distinguish himself as he never did before. As the only available man, he will appear at the Giants, much depends on Dad. But with Zefferous as a backstop, Mr. Clarke feels confident of his ability to beat out the hard-hitting Quakers. Both lost two games out of three in the opening series, but the visitors are in better form than the local cravers seem to be. Either Carney or Orth will pitch for the Phillies. The make-up of the locals will be the same as at Washington.

WEIRD PLAY AT NEWARK.

Giants Put Up a Spectacular Game, but Won Against Poor Decisions.

As an exhibition, the affair between the Giants and Deacon Ellis's young men at Newark yesterday afternoon, bordered on the wildly spectacular. It was anybody's game up to the last inning, and the most excitable rooter would not have risked heart failure had the locals won. The score:
